STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER

1. Plaintiff Macomb Interceptor Drain Drainage District (“MIDDD”), Defendant Inland Waters Pollution Control, Inc. (“Inland”) and Intervening Plaintiff City of Detroit and its Detroit Water and Sewerage Department (“DWSD”) (individually "a Party" and collectively "the Parties"), recognize that some of the documents, testimony and materials that will be produced by the Parties and third parties in discovery may include information which is or is claimed to be proprietary, a trade secret or otherwise confidential research, development, technical, commercial, or financial information. Accordingly, the Parties wish to establish rules and procedures governing the treatment of such information, and have conferred in good faith with respect to the terms of this Protective Order pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c). The production of information which a Party or a third party contends is proprietary, a trade secret or otherwise confidential research, development, technical, commercial or financial information shall be governed by this Stipulated Protective Order ("Protective Order").

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c), and for good cause shown, that the following provisions shall govern the handling of confidential information in this action:

1. “Discovery Material.” As used in this Protective Order, the term “Discovery Material” shall encompass all documents (including electronically stored information), deposition testimony and exhibits, interrogatory answers, responses to requests for admission, and any other written, recorded, transcribed or graphic matter produced by any party (or its employees or former employees) or third party during the discovery process in this action, any copies thereof, and information contained therein, as well as any information accessed, downloaded or in any way obtained by or from the Parties or any third party.

2. “Designating Party.” As used in this Protective Order, the term “Designating Party” shall mean any party to this action, as well as any third party to this action (including counsel for such third party), who requests the protections provided by this Protective Order and produces Discovery Material.

3. Designation of Confidential Information. In producing, providing or revealing Discovery Material, any Designating Party may designate as “CONFIDENTIAL” the whole or any part of such discovery material which the Designating Party deems in good faith to be proprietary, a trade secret or otherwise confidential research, development, technical, commercial or financial information to the extent (1) such information is not publicly known, (2) such information cannot be ascertained from an inspection of publicly available documents, materials or devices, (3) the Designating Party maintains such information in confidence, and (4) the Designating Party believes that unprotected disclosure of such information might result in economic or competitive injury. If a Designating Party determines in good faith that Discovery Material requires protection under the terms of this Protective Order, it shall advise the Parties of this fact, and all copies of such Discovery Material or portions thereof shall be marked “CONFIDENTIAL” and treated in accordance with the terms of this Protective Order. Discovery Material designated under this Protective Order as “CONFIDENTIAL” shall collectively be referred to as “Protected Information.”

4. Use of Protected Information. All documents or information designated or marked as provided herein shall be used by the recipient solely for the purposes of this action or the following actions: 1. In Re: City of Detroit, Michigan, Debtor; United States Bankruptcy Court, Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Divisions, Chapter 9 Case #: 13-53846, Hon. Steven Rhodes; or 2. Macomb Interceptor Drain Drainage District v City of Detroit; Macomb County Circuit Court, case # 2013-002589-CZ, Hon. John Foster, and no person receiving such Protected Information shall, directly or indirectly, use, transfer, disclose, or communicate in any way the Protected Information to any person other than those specified in paragraph 7 of this Order.

5. Use of Protected Information in Depositions. The Parties shall have the right to use Protected Information at or for the purpose of taking depositions, subject to the terms of this Protective Order. At any deposition, upon inquiry with regard to the content of a document marked “CONFIDENTIAL” or whenever counsel for a Party or third party deems that the answer to the question may result in the disclosure of Protected Information, or whenever counsel for a Party or third party deems that the answer to any question has resulted in the disclosure of Protected Information, the deposition (or portions thereof as described below) may be designated by the affected Party or third party as containing Protected Information subject to the provisions of this Order. Counsel for the affected Party or third party may direct that the question and answer calling for the disclosure of Protected Information be transcribed separately from the remainder of the deposition and marked "CONFIDENTIAL" as may be appropriate. When such direction has been given, the testimony shall be disclosed only to those individuals specified herein, and the information contained therein shall be used only as specified herein. Counsel for the Party or third party whose Protected Information is involved may also request that all persons not entitled under this Protective Order to have access to the Protected Information leave the room during the confidential portion of the deposition. Counsel for the affected Party or third party, along with counsel for the examining party, shall endeavor to minimize the use of the separate transcript containing the Protected Information. Failure of such other persons to comply with a request to leave the deposition shall constitute substantial justification for counsel to advise the witness not to answer the question seeking the revelation of Protected Information. Counsel must designate portions of a deposition transcript in accordance with this Order within twenty (20) days of receiving the transcript. Designations may be made by letter to counsel of record. Portions of deposition transcripts so designated shall be treated as Protected Information by the parties as set forth herein. During the twenty (20) day period, the entire transcript shall be treated as Protected Information.

6. Third Party Production of Protected Information. Third parties producing Discovery Material in the course of this action may also designate documents as “CONFIDENTIAL” subject to the same protections and constraints as the parties to the action. A copy of this Protective Order shall be served along with any subpoena served in connection with this action.

7. Disclosure of Discovery Material Designated “Confidential.” Discovery material designated “CONFIDENTIAL” and produced pursuant to this Protective Order may be disclosed or made available only to the Court in this action and in the actions referenced in Paragraph 4 above, and to the persons designated below:

- a) Current employees or officers of each Party who held those position(s) at any time after the commencement of this action;
- b) Outside counsel of record for the Parties in this action and in the actions referenced in Paragraph 4 above (including attorneys associated with the law firm(s) and the paralegal, clerical, and secretarial staff utilized by such counsel);
- c) Inside counsel for the Parties in this action and in the actions referenced in Paragraph 4 above (including paralegal, clerical, and secretarial staff utilized by such counsel);

- d) Outside experts or consultants (including their clerical and secretarial staff) retained to assist in the prosecution, defense, or settlement of this action and in the actions referenced in Paragraph 4 above, provided that each such expert or consultant first signs an acknowledgment in the form of Exhibit A;
- e) Persons shown on the face of the Protected Information to have authored or received it;
- f) Deposition or trial witnesses in this action and in the actions referenced in Paragraph 4 above, but only for purposes of testimony in this action, and subject to the restrictions set forth in this Order (however, no such witness shall be given Protected Information to retain);
- g) Court reporter(s) utilized in this action and in the actions referenced in Paragraph 4 above; and
- h) Any other person as to whom the Parties and Designating Party agree in writing.

8. Filing of Protected Information with the Court. Any Protected Information that is filed with the Court by any Party, including transcripts of depositions or portions thereof, documents produced in discovery, information obtained from inspection of premises or things, and answers to interrogatories or requests for admissions, exhibits and all other documents which have previous thereto been designated hereunder, or any pleading or memorandum reproducing or paraphrasing or containing such information, shall be filed through the Court's ECF system only after the filing Party has marked the document as filed under seal.

9. Inadvertent Production. The inadvertent production or disclosure of privileged, or otherwise protected information, documents, or other materials or the inadvertent failure to designate information in accordance with this Protective Order shall not constitute a waiver of any applicable privilege or protections, including, for example, the attorney-client privilege, the work product protection, or any protection afforded by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedures. Any inadvertent production or failure to designate may be remedied as follows:

- a) The producing Party or third party shall: (i) give written notice of the inadvertent production to all recipients of the inadvertently produced information, document, or other material, and (ii) state the nature of the privilege or designate the information as “CONFIDENTIAL” information.
- b) Upon receipt of written notice of inadvertent production, all Parties or third parties shall return inadvertently produced attorney-client privileged or work product protected information, documents, or other materials to the Designating Party and destroy all copies thereof. As to Protected Information, each Party or third party shall apply the “CONFIDENTIAL” designation to each copy of such material, treat such information in accord with this Protective Order, and provide the other Parties or third parties with an acknowledgment that the recipient attempted in good faith to remedy disclosure of such information to unauthorized persons.

10. Information not Confidential. The restrictions set forth in this Protective Order shall not be construed:

- a) To preclude any Party or third party or its attorneys of record from making use of information which was lawfully in their possession prior to the approval by the Court of this Protective Order or production by the producing party; or
- b) To apply to information or other materials that have been or become part of the public domain by publication or otherwise and not due to any unauthorized act or omission on the part of a receiving party; or
- c) To apply to information or other materials that, under law, have been declared to be in the public domain.

11. Challenges to Designations. Inspection or receipt by a Party or third party of any discovery material designated as “CONFIDENTIAL” hereunder shall not constitute a concession as to the validity of such designation. If any Party claims that the Designating Party has unreasonably or improperly designated certain information under this Protective Order, or believes that it is necessary to disclose designated information to persons other than those permitted by this Protective Order, and if dispute regarding the designation cannot be resolved by agreement, the objecting Party may make an appropriate application to the Court requesting that the discovery material be excluded from the provisions of this Order or be available to specified other persons. The movant shall have the obligation of showing a good faith basis for its contention that the discovery material should not be protected under this Order or that disclosure to persons other than those authorized by this Order should be permitted. Thereafter the Designating Party shall have the burden of establishing the confidential nature of the discovery material.

12. No Waiver or Admission of Confidentiality. This Protective Order is entered solely for the purpose of facilitating the exchange of discovery material between the Parties and third-parties without involving the Court unnecessarily in the process. Nothing in this Protective Order nor the production of any discovery material under the terms of this Protective, nor any proceedings pursuant to this Protective Order shall be deemed to have the effect of an admission or a waiver by any Designating Party of the confidential nature of any discovery material or altering any existing obligation of any Designating Party or the absence thereof. Entry of this Protective Order does not preclude any Party or third party from seeking or opposing additional protection for particular information or documents.

13. No Waiver of Privilege. This Protective Order does not prejudice the right of any Party or third party to oppose production of any information or document on the ground of attorney-client privilege, work product immunity, or any other privilege or protection provided by law.

14. Return or Destruction of Information. Within sixty (60) days after entry of final judgment, including any appeal, or other final dismissal of this action, all documents and things, including transcripts of depositions or trial, together with all copies thereof, which have been designated as “CONFIDENTIAL” shall be returned to the Designating Party. In lieu of returning such designated materials as provided above, and upon approval of the Designating Party, counsel for the receiving Party may certify in writing to counsel for the Designating Party that the materials have been destroyed.

15. Protective Order Survives Conclusion. This Protective Order shall survive the conclusion of this action, and the Court shall retain jurisdiction to resolve any dispute concerning the use of information protected under this Protective Order.

16. No Undue Restrictions. Nothing in this Protective Order shall bar or otherwise restrict any attorney from rendering advice to his/her client with respect to this action and, in the course thereof, generally referring to or relying upon his examination of documents or things produced.
